

GENERAL LEONARD WOOD

In The Lead in the Republican Primary Contest—Qualities That Appeal to The American Citizen—As Chairman John H. Price Sees The Campaign

Facing disaster and certain defeat the astute managers of the Harding presidential campaign in Ohio, led by Harry Daugherty of "2-11 a.m." fame are dragging in other candidates in the hope of splitting the old Roosevelt vote which now solidly behind Leonard Wood. This is evidenced by the propaganda favorable to Herbert Hoover and Hiram Johnson which is being widely spread by the Harding agents also by the fact that the Harding people are paying Hoover organization expenses, including headquarters rent, and guaranteeing Hoover printing bills in certain instances.

Mr. Daugherty and his associates figure that by boosting Hoover and Johnson many who are opposed to Harding and naturally would vote for Wood will be persuaded to write in the name of one or the other of these superfluous candidates.

It is of course obvious that every opponent of Harding who writes in Johnson's name or Hoover's name on the ballot is in fact voting for Harding. Johnson knows this, Hoover knows this, Harding knows this, but Leonard Wood is the leading candidate and both Johnson and Hoover are very much more willing to have the delegates from Ohio hand-picked by Mr. Daugherty and explained by him elected than the Wood delegates. They know Daugherty is a good trader and feel that he might possibly pull off his celebrated "2-11 a.m." meeting in their behalf if opportunity afforded.

The Hoover movement is being cleverly manipulated by the Harding people to their own advantage. The leaders of it are simply being misled by real political manipulators, like Mr. Daugherty, who are much to clever for them. At the last Hoover will only get a scattering vote, but Mr. Daugherty figures that much of this would naturally go to Wood if the game was played according to the rules established by the primary law.

General Leonard Wood has 188 delegates to the Republican national convention either instructed for him for president or publicly committed to him. This is a record which was made late Saturday by the Ohio Leonard Wood committee. The "score" to date, as announced follows:

Wood, 188.
Johnson, 40.
Pritchard, 17.
Harding, 0.
Pendergast, 0.

GETTING AFTER WAR WASTE

The House of Representatives has adopted the resolution proposed by the Committee which has been investigating expenditures of the War Department during the war, which directs that the evidence and facts gathered by the subcommittee which has been probing the tremendous waste in the building of army camps shall be turned over to the Attorney General of the United States. The committee requests the Attorney General to institute grand jury proceedings so that both criminal and civil action can be brought against those responsible for the waste and loss to the government.

The adoption of this resolution marks the conclusion of months work by the subcommittee investigating camp expenditures, of which subcommittee Representative R. C. McCulloch, of Ohio is a member. Charges of waste of millions of dollars and most flagrant irregularities were made and the War Department was scored for adopting the "cost-plus" method in building camps for the army.

The committee not only recommends that the Attorney General take legal action to punish the guilty in connection with the construction of Camp Sherman, Ohio, was pointed out as an example of the way the public funds were squandered under the direction of the War Department. Representatives McCulloch and Craven told how army officers were replaced by men taken from private contracting firms in supervising the camp work and asserted that the latter fixed things to suit themselves. He described how millions of feet of lumber were deliberately burned at Camp Sherman how tons of nails were thrown into a near-by river and canal how team and motor trucks were kept on the contractors pay-roll without any work for them to do and hundreds of workmen were allowed to loaf for days playing poker and shooting craps. This condition, charged Mr. McCulloch, was largely the result of the "cost-plus" system because the more money the contractors spent the greater were their profits.

KAHRS-GERKEN

Miss Alvina Kahrs and Mr. Carl Gerken were united in marriage at the Lutheran church south of the Ridge on Thursday April 15th, 1:00 p. m. by their pastor Rev. O. G. Hebstreit. Following the wedding ceremony a fine dinner was served to those present at the home of the bride's parents. Both bride and groom are popular young people in the community.

THE RISING TIDE OF PRICES

One of the grocery merchants of Wauseon, Mr. F. C. Smallman has furnished us with a table of price comparisons for the past two weeks with the present. This table will be interesting as a reminder of how low in price the staple provisions used to be. The thoughtful will reflect that their income was also proportionately low.
